DROPS OF OIL

FROM THE LAMP OF THE SANCTUARY

*“And God said, Be light made.
And light was made.”*

GENESIS I.

Laus Deo Semper.

“Thou shalt make also seven lamps, and shalt set them upon the candlestick, to give light over-against.”

—Exodus xxv. 37.

“Command the children of Israel that they bring thee the purest oil of the olives, and beaten with a pestle: that a lamp may burn always, in the tabernacle of the testimony, without the veil that hangs before the testimony. And Aaron and his sons shall order it, that it may give light before the Lord until the morning. It shall be a perpetual observance throughout their successions among the children of Israel.”

—Exodus xxvii. 20, 21.

“ In the days of those kingdoms, the God of Heaven will set up a kingdom that shall never be destroyed, and His kingdom shall not be delivered up to another people ; and it shall break in pieces and shall consume all these kingdoms, and itself shall stand for ever.”

—Daniel.

DEAR CHILDREN,

You have seen an infant on its mother's knee turn to fix its eyes on a bright lamp or candle. If you go into a dark room you call for light. This desire for light is a gift of God. When He had created it He "saw that it was good." He kindled it from His own Being, whose light is from Everlasting. Those innumerable stars at which we gaze in wonder, He hung up in space on the morning of creation, and they will give light to the end of time.

Heaven was flooded with uncreated light, when Lucifer, through a sin of pride, sought to eclipse the glory of God by his own created light, and, from an angel of light, fell with the rest of the rebel angels into the blackness of darkness for ever. When men fell into sin, and lost the light of God's grace, they began to kindle fires to consume the victims they had slain. This was done to draw down the fire of His love upon their guilty souls.

From the earliest times smoke from these fires rose up from altars of stone, in honour of God and in thanksgiving, because in His wrath He had remembered mercy. As time went on a Greater Sacrifice approached, longed for by God and man. My little children, you know what that was. The Holy Cross is the wood ; the victim, God made man ; and the fire is the love of His Sacred Heart. Faith and hope in this stupendous sacrifice were kindled in the Garden of Eden immediately after the Fall.

Holy patriarchs and prophets saw the smoke of that sacrifice through the mist of ages : the light from it was so brilliant that it almost blinded them with joy before it had been kindled : they were in the burning bush of loving anticipation, and they speak of that tremendous sacrifice as if it had been already accomplished ; they seem to be looking back at, rather than forward to it. The prophet Isaias cries out, “The light of the moon shall be as the light of the sun, and the light of the sun shall be sevenfold ; in the day when the Lord shall bind up the wound of His people, and shall heal the stroke of their wound.” . . . “The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light. For a child is born to us.” The Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary is as the Sanctuary Lamp, through whose pure light the Orient from on high hath visited us. It shone through the drooping foliage of Paradise, when God said to the serpent,—“I will put enmities between thee and THE WOMAN . . . She shall crush thy head, and thou shalt lie in wait for her heel.” Nothing defiled can touch our thrice holy God : therefore, He prepared an undefiled Tabernacle wherein to dwell, and shine on the darkness of this world, namely, the Body of His Virgin Mother. The Second Person of the ever-blessed Trinity deigned to become Man in order to die for us, and the Immaculate Conception of His Mother reflects His uncreated Beauty and Divinity. The Sacrifice on Calvary was so tremendous that the smoke of it still goes up daily from the altars of the Christian Church, and will do so till the end of time; in the words of the Catechism, "The MASS is the unbloody sacrifice of the Body and Blood of Christ." The Lamb standing as it were slain. The prophet Malachi saw the glory of it, for he says, "The sacrifice of Juda and Jerusalem shall please the Lord as in the days of old." "From the rising of the sun even to the going down, my Name is great among the Gentiles, and in every place there is sacrifice, there is offered to my Name a clean oblation."

I have not space here to tell you all the types and figures of our Blessed Lord or of His Holy Church which are found in the Old Testament; my wish is to point at the Lamp by whose light you may read them.

In the Book of Exodus it is written, the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, "I have heard the murmuring of the children of Israel; . . . say to them, . . . In the morning you shall have your fill of bread, and you shall know that I am the Lord your God. . . . And when the children of Israel saw it, they said one to another, Manhu, . . . what is this? for they knew not what it was. And Moses said to them, this is the bread which the Lord hath given you to eat. Fill a gomer of it, and let it be kept unto generations to come hereafter, that they may know the bread wherewith I fed you . . . when you were brought out of the land of Egypt."

It is within the tabernacle of the Holy Catholic Church that the Heaven-sent bread is stored for the strength and support of our souls and bodies.

God made man is the Christian's Manhu, and before Him the Sanctuary Lamp continually burns.

I write these words to you, dear children, under the beautiful ruins of the church and monastery of “The Blessed Mary and St. Oswin,” on the rugged cliffs of Northumberland. Kings, Queens, Saints of every class in life have knelt before its altar for centuries, to contemplate and adore the Christian’s Manhu, the Lord our God. Storm-tossed mariners have hailed the twinkle of its altar lamp through the foaming spray, and have called upon their Sacramental Lord to command the waters, and to say, “Peace, be still.” There are many such beautiful monasteries and convents in England now ruined and rifled, where holy men and women gave their lives to God, and spent their time in praise, in prayer, and in works of charity to their neighbours, remembering the words of the Divine Master whom they served, “Amen I say to you, as long as you did it to one of these my least brethren, you did it to me.”

Besides the spiritual and corporal works of mercy, they attained great perfection in the fine arts—architecture, painting, music, sculpture ; in the cloistered recesses of their religious houses they copied out by hand (for printing was unknown) the Holy Scriptures, of which the Church has always been the teacher, guided by the Third Person of the ever-Blessed Trinity, God the Holy Ghost.

Laid up in the colleges and museums of our land, these monuments of piety and zeal remain as a proof of the skill and industry of the religious Orders.

Dear children, you live in a land and in a time of unbelief. The enemy has sowed tares among the wheat. You will often hear the holy Church maligned. Remember then the words of her Blessed Lord, “If they have called the good-man of the house Beelzebub, how much more them of His household? therefore fear them not.”

“You shall be hated by all men for my name’s sake. . . . The disciple is not above his Master; it is enough for the disciple to be as his Master, and the servant as his Lord.”

It is very necessary to bear these words of our Blessed Lord in your mind, when the devil and the world would seek to pour into your young ears the deadly poison of hatred against the Church which God has founded on a rock, and against which He has said the gates of hell shall not prevail. In the words of the Catechism, she cannot err in faith or morals, for she is our infallible guide in both. She has four marks by which you may know her, she is ONE—she is HOLY—she is CATHOLIC—she is APOSTOLIC. Her foundations are the Prophets and Apostles, built on Christ the Corner-stone; her Creeds are the pillars on which she rests; her Lamp is a light to our eyes and to our feet, and her reward the eternal vision of God.

Soon after our Lord's Ascension, she suffered persecution under the heathen Roman Emperors. "Sacrifice to our gods, or die!" cried they. "Let me die the death of the just," replied the Christian martyr as he looked at the crucifix, "and let my last end be like to his."

Extinguished above ground, her Altar Lamp

was lighted in the dark recesses of the Catacombs, among the ashes of the dead. Those persecutions passed away and others came—yet she flourishes—her crown of thorns stills bears its roses; persecution is to be her portion, for she is Christ's Bride, and she suffers with Him; yet the odour of her sanctity, emanating as it does from Him, fills the whole world. Look abroad, dear children of England; in our day she is raising her head from the effects of the dire trial she had to endure during the reigns of King Henry VIII. and Queen Elizabeth; the blood of martyrs again flowed.

Her ancient cathedrals and beautiful abbey churches were grievously defaced, the axe of the destroyer levelled her sculptured pillars to the ground. The daily sacrifice of the New Law was no longer offered in those holy edifices. The sweet name of Mary was profaned: the saints were no longer invoked; the words of the sweet singer of Israel were hushed. The coarse voices of rough soldiers were heard in the aisles, where the Psalms of holy David had been sung—"seven times a day." The dust of saints was scattered to the four winds.

The Lord's vineyard was rooted up. Still her faithful children clustered round her Sanctuary Lamp in some secluded church or room; it shone more brightly in the darkness.

In whispered tones of love they sang her holy offices, the priest offered the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, and in the words of the Psalmist exclaimed, while he wept, "Thy word is a light to my feet and a lantern to my path." Her garments, then so torn and disfigured, are now being repaired; she is building up her waste places.

Her wounded sheep who fled in fear—called by the voice of the Great Shepherd—are returning to their beloved Fold, for there is one Fold and one Shepherd. Our own revered Cardinal Archbishop, with many other noble-hearted men and women of all conditions of life, have come and continue to come back out of darkness and doubt into her marvellous light ; they are drawn by the light of her Sanctuary Lamp. Come, then, to the well of living water—our loving Saviour waits for you, as He did for the poor woman of Samaria ; and though you have nothing wherein to draw, for the well is deep, say to Him with lively faith, “ I know that the Messias cometh ;” then He will embrace His humble child, and whisper those words of peace, “ I am He who am speaking with thee.”

In these days we are busied about many things, but one thing is necessary—Where is the House of our Faith ?

On what foundation does it rest ?

Take heed that it be not built on sand.

Glance over the pages of history. For 1800 years and more God’s Church has withstood the tempests, and she has not fallen, for she is founded on a Rock—that Rock on which He built her. Prefigured in the Old Law, she is fulfilled in the New Law, and established for ever.

St. Peter received the Keys from his Divine Master, and like a good steward of the mysteries of God, he passed them on to his successors, and there has not been wanting a man to sit on the Chair of Truth during all that time. Taught and guided by the Holy Ghost, the Spirit of truth, "whom the world cannot receive—because it seeth Him not nor knoweth Him"—the Holy Catholic Church through the consecrated mouth of Christ's Vicar has infallibly spoken the truth. In the midst of trials, perplexities, wars, sins, heresies, schisms, she has shone out—"fair as the moon," lustrous, pure, and unsullied. Her faithful children render implicit obedience to her chief Bishop, the successor of St. Peter, but they likewise "render to Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's." Her maxims are those of her Lord. He taught us to love God above all, and our neighbour as ourselves—to take up our cross daily, and she never fails to follow His example. He said to His disciples before His Passion and Death, “I have yet many things to say to you, but you cannot bear them now ; but when He, the Spirit of Truth, is come, He will teach you all Truth, and the things that are to come He will show you.” The Holy Catholic Church, with such a Heavenly Guide—God Himself—has never fallen into error. But you may be told that she became corrupt, that reformation was needed. Look at this beautiful world in which we live. She turns on her axis by day and by night; does she shine less brightly in the firmament because men have disfigured her surface by their wickedness? Certainly not. She speeds on in her yearly orbit round the sun, whose light she reflects, and thus fulfils her task till time is done. Let light be made, and it was made. Wilful heretics and schismatics the Church has cast out from her sacred Fold ; still ever ready to receive them back, she calls them to repentance and submission. She holds, and has held intact the Sacred Scriptures, and she is the living witness to their Truth ; it is through her alone that we can receive the Gospels as the Word of God. Other truths the Holy Ghost revealed to the Church which are "not written." She is Christ's Bride; we are her children, and we trust to her infallible voice.

As we value our eternal salvation, men and women, children of once Catholic England, let us have recourse to the unction of the Seven Sacraments, and to the other channels of grace which the Church holds out: to her alone belong the Creeds, and the Collects, and the Epistles, and the Gospels whose echo you hear on the first day of the week. Her children fall low on the knee at those sweet words of mercy, "Incarnatus est de Spiritu Sancto ex Maria Virgine et Homo Factus est;" for her Lord is "Perfect God and perfect man"—"not made, nor created, but begotten." The night is past, the day is at hand, let us put on the armour of light, and take oil in our lamps, that when the Bridegroom cometh we may go out to meet Him with joy—having passed through the Church militant and suffering, may rejoice for ever in the glories of the Church triumphant.

So now, dear children, kneel often before the Sanctuary Lamp, and call on your Lord, present in the Tabernacle, to give you grace so to live that your light may shine before men, that others seeing your good works may glorify your Father who is in heaven; call to mind the lighted candle which the priest of God's Church places in the infant's hand in baptism: "Receive this burning light, and keep thy baptism so as to be without blame: observe the commandments of God, that when the Lord shall come to the nuptials, thou mayest meet Him in company of the saints in the heavenly court, and have eternal life, and live for ever and ever. Amen."

Pray, dear children, for holy souls departed, and receive these few drops of oil from the shrine of the Blessed Mary and St. Oswin ; for though the noble priory is a ruin, and the stalls of the monks for three hundred years have been vacant,

The Sanctuary Lamp burns near.

C. M. B. S.,

TYNEMOUTH, Feast of Corpus Christi, 1876.

THE mission of Tynemouth was opened on the Feast of the Assumption, 1871. The chapel is a small temporary structure, wherein the Catholic soldiers assemble on Sundays during the Holy Sacrifice. A site has been secured, and efforts are being made with a view to erect a church worthy of this ancient abode of saints.

“Surge, Domine, in requiem tuam : tu et arca sanctificationes tuæ.”

“Constituit eam super excelsam terram, ut sugeret mel de petra. Oleumque de saxo durissimo.”

Deuteronomy xxxii. 13.

“The light thereof was like to a precious stone, as to a jasper stone, even as a crystal.”—Apocalypse.

HAIL, holy Church of Rome,
My true and only rest,
O lead me safely home
To God for ever blest.

To thee the nations bow,
For Catholic thou art ;
To souls pure, meek, and low
Dost mysteries impart.

In Baptism's crystal wave
Our sin-stained souls are washed,
One infant soul to save
The Blood of Christ it cost.

Within yon lowly door
Kind Penance long doth wait,
Now go and sin no more;
Contrition's ne'er too late.

By Holy Spirit's light
Through Confirmation's chrism,
We gain new strength to fight
'Gainst heresy and schism.

Reflected clear is seen
In holy Marriage tie,
The Virgin-Mother-Queen,
A love that cannot die.

The virgins' crown is rare,
And decked with jewels bright ;
'Tis given those to wear
Whose robes are dazzling white.

O happy spouses ye
Who earth's false joys have fled,
And ever on the knee
Adore the Angels' Bread !

O wondrous, awful gift,
In Ordination given,
That man his God may lift
To plead with God in Heaven !

The “Star that never sets”
Doth rise at daily Mass ;
'Tis God who pays our debts,
But seen as in a glass.

The Eucharistic Bread,
Our supersubstantial food,
By which our souls are fed,
Christ's Body is and Blood.

In even one small crumb

Divinity doth stop,

Incarnate God finds room

In every single drop.

Raised high on Calvary's mount

The Paschal Lamb lies slain,

His sacred Heart the fount,

His Tears the healing rain.

Then haste to daily climb

Up Calvary's ruddy steep ;

Until the end of time

This fount springs pure and deep.

The Sun withdraws his light,
The veil is rent in twain,
God's Face is hid in night,
The heathen rage in vain.

The bonds are broke asunder,
Heaven's gates wide open fly,
That crash of fearful thunder
Proclaims God-Man doth die !

See Holy Church is born
When He her Lord doth die,
But speechless and forlorn
Still at His Feet doth lie.

Till opening wide her eyes
God's Virgin-Mother sees—“Magnificat!” she cries,
Her widowed heart to ease.

St. Peter, where art thou? . . .
Thy Master holds the key,
I hear thee whispering low,
“O Lord, depart from me.”

Yet Peter, lowly bend ;
To thee the keys are given,
Nor earth nor hell can rend
From thee that gift of Heaven.

Walk upon the water,
God's Ark is on the flood.
Meet Jesus, blessed Peter,
And seal thy faith in blood.

St. John denied Him not,
O happy Virgin blest,
T'was once thy envied lot
To lean upon His Breast,

And from the beating Heart
Draw secrets of His love,
In Patmos to impart
The glories stored above.

That Breast thou canst not reach,
A sword hath pierced it through;
Thou standest near to teach
What wretched sin will do.

The Blood-stained Feet await—Come, Magdalen, draw near,
Penance is not too late,
True love doth cast out fear.

Come, Nicodemus meek,
In this day's darkest night
Thy loving Saviour seek,
For He will be thy light.

Arimathea's saint,
Bring new white linen here,
No garb with earthly taint
May shroud those Limbs so dear.

Now place Him in the tomb,
"A watch" indeed is set,
Can there for man be room,
When hosts of Heaven are met?

Yes, men, saints, angels meet,
His mother, too, is there;
This is His Mercy-seat,
Although He does not stir.

A Sabbath-day so “great”
That God must rest thereon,
The seal it has been set
Upon that ponderous stone.

The Eyes that looked abroad
On fair Creation’s dawn,
In death must be adored,
Earth—sea, be still and mourn.

His Hands, His Feet, His Heart,
Each worshipped be by us,
Divine each sacred part,
Sanctus, Sanctus, Sanctus.

Whence come those glorious dyes
That deck the Eastern sky?
Will earth's bright sun arise
While Christ in death doth lie?

Bright Angel, take thy seat,
That raiment dazzles me,
To guard thy God is meet,
O honour high for thee.

That Angel low did speak,
The women's eyes were dim—
“I know well whom ye seek,”
All glory be to Him!

“ Haste now to Galilee,
He is not here” but there,
In truth Him ye shall see,
Adore—and Him declare.

Peter and holy John,
Make haste to run the race,
The folded linen con,
But, Lord, show us Thy Face.

It shone on Thabor’s hill,
We could not bear It there ;
Now risen, how It will
Above the sun be fair !

But Thou hast turned aside
From this Thy garden-bed,
Show us where Thou dost hide,
Sweet Lily white and red.

His Mother blest, unstained
Would Jesu risen see,
“I to my beloved,
And my beloved to Me.”

Redeemed before her birth
This Star precedes the sun,
Before Him shines on earth
But by His light alone.

“Ave Maria!” Gabriel!
What voice repeats that sound?
“Ave Jesu!” earth and hell
With quaking fear rebound.

A second Eden this,
The tree of life is there,
No deadly serpents hiss;—
“Take, eat—for it is fair.”

Visible—Invisible,
Hail living Bread the Host;
Risen—adorable,
Strive who can love Him most.

Magdalén “through the lattice”

The gardener did spy.

“Mary,” whispered Jesus.

Hail, my God! “Rabboni!”

The hospitable two

Who Him to Emmaus led,

The living Christ did view

In broken crumbs of Bread.

The evening star doth shine,

Dear stranger, with us stay;

Our hearts within us burn,

Ah, then, go not away.

O invitation sweet
Unto the wearied—rest.
Yes, God would take His seat
Within their glowing breast.

The merit of belief
They happily attained,
While still their Lord and Chief
Invisible remained.

O wavering Thomas, come,
Look deep into His Hands ;
Read there the sceptic's doom,
Then preach Him to all lands.

Believē and be baptized,
Said Jesus when He rose ;
Believe not—be condemned :
Man has free-will to choose.

• • • •
Creator, Lord, Most High,
My Judge and Saviour dear,
When the last day draws nigh,
O unto me be near.

Reward the soul that brings
Thy holy priest to me,
Before the death-knell rings
My summons unto Thee.

For Extreme Unction's oil

Doth strength and comfort give ;

Worn out with care and toil,

Thy child would with Thee live

St. Michael, hover near,

Hurl Satan far away,

O calm my mortal fear,

Ora, ora, pro me.

Flash bright, my Rosary,

Those charmed pebbles rare,

David's chain-armoury

'Gainst proud Goliah's snare

Yes, aim with holy force
The devil to disarm,
For Ave is the source
That fills him with alarm.

Dread moment when I die,
Sweet Mary, touch my hand,
And leave me not till I
In Jesu's presence stand.

Then may my body lie
'Midst faithful gone to rest,
No more again to die
When glorified and blest.

The grave seems cold and dark,
Still drop, drop on, Church oil,
God's love—the living spark
That kindles Christian soil.

For holy souls now gone
Requiescant, daily say,
In pace, weeping groan
God's chastening arm to stay.

Indulgenced prayers still use
Through blessed Peter's key,
The debt of sin to loose,
Imprisoned souls to free.

Dear souls that loved us here,
Now flown to Jesu's Breast,
O whisper in our ear
The bliss of Heavenly rest.

List ! watch, for lo a cry,
Behold the Bridegroom near !
Nor go the oil to buy,
Meet Him with holy fear.

But work while it is day,
Fear not the grave's dark night,
Christ Jesus is our stay,
And He will be our light.

The lamp of holy Church
Undimmed will ever glow,
For truth then in her search,
Her oil doth overflow.

Hell's gates shall ne'er prevail
This Church to overthrow,
Though wicked men will rail,
Yet God their pride lays low.

Persecuted by man,
Thy crown—of thorns is now ;
Triumphant soon thou'l reign,
With jewels on thy brow.

The Holy Scriptures lie
Deep set within thy wall,
Guarded by God's clear Eye,
Heresy to appal.

Still sculptured clear in stone
The Ten Commandments stand,
O keep them every one
Their prize—the promised land.

O lamp of holy Church,
We know where Jesus lives,
Guide others there to search,
And find the Bread He gives.

Still shine upon those doors,
Fast-closed doors, where He
The Bread of Angels stores,
Our precious food to be.

Bright emblem of the Star
That stood o'er Bethlehem's shed,
Wise men will still be there,
By Holy Spirit led.

O when the stone rolls back,
And buried saints arise,
No work nor prayer they'll lack
When Christ comes in the skies.

That second Easter morn
Will spring to life and light,
For evermore to dawn,
No more to sink in night.

Earth's sun shall run his course,
The moon her light resign ;
But LIGHT OF LIGHTS, their source,
Will everlasting shine.

Blest, blissful Tri-une Light,
The saints reflect but Thee ;
Keep Thou the Church oil bright,
Lumen de Lumine !

God of God one alone,
Persons Three—equal each,
Deum de Deo—one
Still deign meek babes to teach.

With Thee there is no night,
Thrice Blessed Three in One;
Hail, UNCREATED LIGHT,
For Thou art God alone !

Holy Souls departed with
Oil in your lamps,
May Eternal Light enlighten you.

THE city hath no need of the sun nor of the moon to shine in it. For the glory of God hath enlightened it, and the Lamb is the lamp thereof. And the nations shall walk in the light of it : and the kings of the earth shall bring their glory and honour into it. And the gates thereof shall not be shut by day : for there shall be no night there.—Apocalypse.

Blessed be God.

Blessed be His Holy name.

Blessed be the great Mother of God, Mary most holy.

III. Venial Sin. IV. Sins of Omission. V. The Grace and Works of Penance. VI. Temptation. VII. The Dere-liction on the Cross. VIII. The Joys of the Resurrection.

'We know few better books than this for spiritual reading. These lectures are prepared with great care, and are worthy to rank with the old volumes of sermons which are now standard works of the English tongue.'—Weekly Register.

'We have had many volumes from his Grace's pen of this kind, but perhaps none more practical or more searching than the volume before us.
These discourses are the clearest and simplest exposition of the theology of the subjects they treat of that could be desired. The intellect is addressed as well as the conscience. Both are strengthened and satisfied.'—Tablet.

'Of the deepest value, and of great theological and literary excellence.
More clear and lucid expositions of dogmatic and moral theology could not be found. No one can read these very forcible, searching, and practical sermons without being deeply stirred and greatly edified.'—Church Herald.

'His Grace has added to Catholic literature such a brilliant disquisition as can hardly be equalled.'—Catholic Times.

'As powerful, searching, and deep as any that we have ever read. In construction, as well as in theology and in rhetoric, they are more than remarkable, and are amongst the best from his Grace's pen.'—Union Review.

The Prophet of Carmel: a Series of Practical Considerations upon the History of Elias in the Old Testament; with a Supplementary Dissertation. By the late Rev. CHARLES B. GARSIDE, M.A. Dedicated to the Very Rev. JOHN HENRY NEWMAN, D.D. 5s.

'There is not a page in these sermons but commands our respect. They are Corban in the best sense; they belong to the sanctuary, and are marked as divine property by a special cachet. They are simple without being trite, and poetical without being pretentious.'—Westminster Gazette.

'Full of spiritual wisdom uttered in pure and engaging language.'—The Univers.

'We see in these pages the learning of the divine, the elegance of the scholar, and the piety of the priest. Every point in the sacred narrative bearing upon the subject of his book is seized upon by the author with the greatest keenness of perception, and set forth with singular force and clearness.'—Weekly Register.

'Under his master-hand the marvellous career of the Prophet of Carmel displays its majestic proportions. His strong, nervous, incisive style has a beauty and a grace, a delicacy and a sensitiveness, that seizes hold of the heart and captivates the imagination. He has attained to the highest art of writing, which consists in selecting the words which express one's meaning with the greatest clearness in the least possible space.'—Tablet.

'The intellectual penetration, the rich imagination, the nervous eloquence which we meet with throughout the whole work, all combine to give it at once a very high place among the highest productions of our English Catholic literature.'—Dublin Review.

'Is at once powerful and engaging, and calculated to furnish ideas innumerable to the Christian preacher.'—Church Review.

'The thoughts are expressed in plain and vigorous English. The sermons are good specimens of the way in which Old Testament subjects should be treated for the instruction of a Christian congregation.'—Church Times.

This book has been taken from the 'Risposte popolari alle obiezioni piu diffuse contro la Religione; opera del P. Secondo Franco. Torino, 1868.' It is not a translation of that excellent Italian work, for much has been omitted, and even the forms of expression have not been retained; nor yet is it an abstract, for other matter has been added throughout. The aim of the editor has been merely to follow out the intention of P. Franco, and adapt his thoughts to the circumstances and mind of England.

The Letter-Books of Sir Amias Poulet, Keeper of Mary Queen of Scots. Edited by JOHN MORRIS, Priest of the Society of Jesus. Demy 8vo, 10s. 6d.

Sir Amias Poulet had charge of the Queen of Scots from April 1585 to the time of her death, February 8, 1587. His correspondence with Lord-Treasurer Burghley and Sir Francis Walsingham enters into the details of her life in captivity at Tutbury, Chartley, and Fotheringay. Many of the letters now published are entirely unknown, being printed from a recently-discovered manuscript. The others have been taken from the originals at the Public Record Office and the British Museum. The letters are strung together by a running commentary, in the course of which several of Mr. Froude's statements are examined, and the question of Mary's complicity in the plot against Elizabeth's life is discussed.

'Well done and in a truly charitable spirit.'—Catholic Opinion.

'It treats the subject in so novel and forcible a light that we are fascinated in spite of ourselves, and irresistibly led on to follow its arguments and rejoice at its conclusions.'—Tablet.

VOLUMES PUBLISHED.

The Life and Letters of St. Francis Xavier.

By the Rev. H. J. COLERIDGE. Sec. edit. Two vols. 18s.

'We cordially thank Father Coleridge for a most valuable biography. . . . He has spared no pains to insure our having in good classical English a translation of all the letters which are extant. . . . A complete priest's manual might be compiled from them, entering as they do into all the details of a missioner's public and private life. . . . We trust we have stimulated our readers to examine them for themselves, and we are satisfied that they will return again and again to them as to a never-exhausted source of interest and edification.'—Tablet.

'A noble addition to our literature. . . . We offer our warmest thanks to Father Coleridge for this most valuable work. The letters, we need hardly say, will be found of great spiritual use, especially for missionaries and priests.'—Dublin Review.

'One of the most fascinating books we have met with for a long time.'—Catholic Opinion.

'Would that we had many more lives of saints like this! Father Coleridge has done great service to this branch of Catholic literature, not simply by writing a charming book, but especially by setting others an example of how a saint's life should be written.'—Westminster Gazette.

'This valuable book is destined, we feel assured, to take a high place among what we may term our English Catholic classics. . . . The great charm lies in the letters, for in them we have, in a far more forcible manner than any biographer could give them, the feelings, experiences, and aspirations of St. Francis Xavier as pictured by his own pen.'—Catholic Times.

'Father Coleridge does his own part admirably, and we shall not be surprised to find his book soon take its place as the standard Life of the saintly and illustrious Francis.'—Nation.

'Not only an interesting but a scholarly sketch of a life remarkable alike in itself and in its attendant circumstances. We hope the author will continue to labour in a department of literature for which he has here shown his aptitude. To find a saint's life which is at once moderate, historical, and appreciative is not a common thing.'—Saturday Review.

'Should be studied by all missionaries, and is worthy of a place in every Christian library.'—Church Herald.

The Life of St. Jane Frances Fremyot de

Chantal. By EMILY BOWLES. With Preface by the Rev. H. J. COLERIDGE. Second edition. 5s. 6d.

'We venture to promise great pleasure and profit to the reader of this charming biography. It gives a complete and faithful portrait of one of the most attractive saints of the generation which followed the completion of the Council of Trent.'—Month.

'Sketched in a life-like manner, worthy of her well-earned reputation as a Catholic writer.'—Weekly Register.

'We have read it on and on with the fascination of a novel, and yet it is the life of a saint, described with a rare delicacy of touch and feeling such as is seldom met with.'—Tablet.

'A very readable and interesting compilation. . . . The author has done her work faithfully and conscientiously.'—Athenaeum.

'Full of incident, and told in a style so graceful and felicitous that it wins upon the reader with every page.'—Nation.

'Miss Bowles has done her work in a manner which we cannot better commend than by expressing a desire that she may find many imitators. She has endued her materials with life, and clothed them with a language and a style of which we do not know what to admire most—the purity, the grace, the refinement, or the elegance. If our readers wish to know the value and the beauty of this book, they can do no better than get it and read it.'—Westminster Gazette.

'One of the most charming and delightful volumes which has issued from the press for many years. Miss Bowles has accomplished her task faithfully and happily, with simple grace and unpretentious language, and a winning manner which, independently of her subject, irresistibly carries us along.'—Ulster Examiner.

The History of the Sacred Passion. From the Spanish of Father LUIS DE LA PALMA, of the Society of Jesus. The Translation revised and edited by the Rev. H. J. COLERIDGE. Third edition. 7s. 6d.

'A work long held in great and just repute in Spain. It opens a mine of wealth to one's soul. Though there are many works on the Passion in English, probably none will be found so generally useful both for spiritual reading and meditation. We desire to see it widely circulated.'—Tablet.

'A sterling work of the utmost value, proceeding from the pen of a great theologian, whose piety was as simple and tender as his learning and culture were profound and exquisite. It is a rich storehouse for contemplation on the great mystery of our Redemption, and one of those books which every Catholic ought to read for himself.'—Weekly Register.

'The most wonderful work upon the Passion that we have ever read. To us the charm lies in this, that it is entirely theological. It is made use of largely by those who give the Exercises of St. Ignatius; it is, as it were, the flesh upon the skeleton of the Exercises. Never has the Passion been meditated upon so before. . . . If any one wishes to understand the Passion of our Lord in its fulness, let him procure this book.'—Dublin Review.

'We have not read a more thoughtful work on our Blessed Lord's Passion.

It is a complete storehouse of matter for meditation, and for sermons on that divine mystery.'—Catholic Opinion.

'The book is—speaking comparatively of human offerings—a magnificent offering to the Crucified, and to those who wish to make a real study of the Cross will be a most precious guide.'—Church Review.

Ierne of Armorica: a Tale of the Time of Chlovis. By J. C. BATEMAN. 6s. 6d.

'We know of few tales of the kind that can be ranked higher than the beautiful story before us. The author has hit on the golden mean between an over-display of antiquarianism and an indolent transfer of modern modes of action and thought to a distant time. The descriptions are masterly, the characters distinct, the interest unflagging. We may add that the period is one of those which may be said to be comparatively unworked.'—Month.

'A volume of very great interest and very great utility. As a story it is sure to give much delight, while, as a story founded on historical fact, it will benefit all by its very able reproduction of very momentous scenes. . . . The book is excellent. If we are to have a literature of fiction at all, we hope it will include many like volumes.'—Dublin Review.

'Although a work of fiction, it is historically correct, and the author portrays with great skill the manners and customs of the times of which he professes to give a description. In reading this charming tale we seem to be taken by the hand by the writer, and made to assist at the scenes which he describes.'—Tablet.

'The author of this most interesting tale has hit the happy medium between a display of antiquarian knowledge and a mere reproduction in distant ages of commonplace modern habits of thought. The descriptions are excellent, the characters well drawn, and the subject itself is very attractive, besides having the advantage of not having been written threadbare.'—Westminster Gazette.

'The tale is excessively interesting, the language appropriate to the time and rank of the characters, the style flowing and easy, and the narrative leads one on and on until it becomes a very difficult matter to lay the book down until it is finished. . . . It is a valuable addition to Catholic fictional literature.'—Catholic Times.

'A very pretty historicco-ecclesiastical novel of the times of Chlovis. It is full of incident, and is very pleasant reading.'—Literary Churchman.

Public Life of our Lord. By the Rev. H. J. COLERIDGE, S.J. 3 vols. published. 6s. 6d. per vol.

The Life of the Blessed John Berchmans. By the Rev. FRANCIS GOLDIE, S.J. 6s.

'A complete and life-like picture, and we are glad to be able to congratulate Father Goldie on his success.'—Tablet.

'Drawn up with a vigour and freedom which show great power of biographical writing.'—Dublin Review.

'One of the most interesting of all.'—Weekly Register.

'Unhesitatingly we say that it is the very best Life of Blessed John Berchmans, and as such it will take rank with religious biographies of the highest merit.'—Catholic Times.

'Is of great literary merit, the style being marked by elegance and a complete absence of redundancy.'—Cork Examiner.

'This delightful and edifying volume is of the deepest interest. The perusal will afford both pleasure and profit.'—Church Herald.

The Life of the Blessed Peter Favre, of the Society of Jesus, First Companion of St. Ignatius Loyola. From the Italian of Father GIUSEPPE BOERO, of the same Society. With Preface by the Rev. H. J. COLERIDGE. 6s. 6d.

This Life has been written on the occasion of the beatification of the Ven. Peter Favre, and contains the Memoriale or record of his private thoughts and meditations, written by himself.

'At once a book of spiritual reading, and also an interesting historical narrative. The Memoriale, or Spiritual Diary, is here translated at full length, and is the most precious portion of one of the most valuable biographies we know.'—Tablet.

'A perfect picture drawn from the life, admirably and succinctly told. The Memoriale will be found one of the most admirable epitomes of sound devotional reading.'—Weekly Register.

'The Memoriale is hardly excelled in interest by anything of the kind now extant.'—Catholic Times.

'Full of interest, instruction, and example.'—Cork Examiner.

'One of the most interesting to the general reader of the entire series up to this time.'—Nation.

'This wonderful diary, the Memoriale, has never been published before, and we are much mistaken if it does not become a cherished possession to thoughtful Catholics.'—Month.

The Dialogues of St. Gregory the Great.

An old English version. Edited, with Preface, by the Rev. H. J. COLERIDGE. 6s.

'The Catholic world must feel grateful to Father Coleridge for this excellent and compendious edition. The subjects treated of possess at this moment a special interest. . . . The Preface by Father Coleridge is interesting and well written, and we cordially recommend the book to the perusal of all.'—Tablet.

'This is a most interesting book. . . . Father Coleridge gives a very useful preface summarising the contents.'—Weekly Register.

'We have seldom taken up a book in which we have become at once so deeply interested. It will suit any one; it will teach all; it will confirm any who require that process; and it will last and be read when other works are quite forgotten.'—Catholic Times.

'Edited and published with the utmost care and the most perfect literary taste, this volume adds one more gem to the treasury of English Catholic literature.'—New York Catholic World.
